Cornbread and butterbeans, and you across the table
Eating beans and making love, as long as I am able
Hoein' corn and cotton too, and when the day is over
Ride the mule, a crazy fool, and love again all over

Goodbye. don't you cry. I'm going to Lou's-iana,
Buy a dog and a big fat hog and marry Suzy Anna.
Sing-song, ding-dong, gonna take a trip to China,
Cornbread and butter beans, and there to Caro-lina.

Cornbread and butterbeans, and you across the table
Eating beans and making love, as long as I am able
Hoein' corn and cotton too, and when the day is over
Ride the mule, a crazy fool, and love again all over

Wearing shoes and drinking booze, is goin' against the Bible
A necktie will make you die, and cause you lots of trouble
Street cars and whiskey bars, and kissing pretty women
Woah man, that's the end, of a terrible be-ginning

Cornbread and butterbeans, and you across the table
Eating beans and making love, as long as I am able
Hoein' corn and cotton too, and when the day is over
Ride the mule, a crazy fool, and love again all over

Can't read and don't care, and education's awful
Raising heck and writing checks, it oughtta be unlawful Silk hose and pretty clothes is just a waste of money
I can see how glad you'll be to marry me, my honey

Cornbread and butterbeans, and you across the table
Eating beans and making love, as long as I am able
Hoein' corn and cotton too, and when the day is over
Ride the mule, a crazy fool, and love again all over
